

ABSTRACT

A device capable of detecting vibration/shock includes a laser diode capable of transmitting a laser beam and a vibration/shock detector capable of detecting vibration or shock, wherein the laser diode and the vibration/shock detector are formed on one chip.